CITY TRUSTEE TUCHSEN OF REDWOOD CITY RESIGNS

Board Will Appoint Someone to Fill Vacancy; Postponed Until Next Monday.

City Trustee H. C. Tuchsen, chairman of the street committee, tendered his resignation to the board at the regular meeting here on Monday night. Press of private business was given as the reason for the step in a letter of resignation read to the board by City Clerk Price. Tuchsen did not attend the meeting.

The resignation of Trustee Tuchsen came as a surprise to members of the board, according to report. Action on the resignation was postponed until next Monday night. Appointment of a successor, in case of the acceptance of the resignation of Trustee Tuchsen, is being made the subject of rumor in official circles. Several prominent business men are said to have been named for the office.

The resignation follows closely on the recent decision of the trustees against granting permits for temporary disposal of sewage in Jefferson Acres. Granting of permits to property owners of the tract was favored by Trustee Tuchsen against the opposition of Trustees Ryan and Beeger.

Trustee Tuchsen has been a member of the board since his election in 1920. He served a previous four-year term which expired in 1918, when he declined to become a candidate for re-election.

Trustee Beeger presided at Monday night's meeting in place of Chairman McNutty, who was absent on account of illness.

An ordinance was adopted allowing the speed of Southern Pacific trains to be increased to 45 miles per hour within the city limits, amending the old ruling that trains must observe a 20-mile speed limit.

An ordinance providing for closing a portion of Maple street was also adopted by the board. Application of John F. Parata for a plumber's license was granted, as was also an application from the P. G. & E. for permission to install a pole on Warwick street in Wellesley Park.

The request of D. B. Harding for sewer connection to his property on Hilton and Casisa streets was referred to City Engineer Dimmitt and the request of the Pratt-Low Preserving Company for a street light at Heller and Willow streets was referred to City Electrician Collins.

An ordinance providing for a 50-cent inspection fee on buildings $300 or less was presented by City Attorney Mansfield, who also addressed the board on the matter of regulating fruit vendors on the San Francisco highway and other thoroughfares of the city.

The board authorized securing of an $8,000 insurance policy on the new Seagrave engine of the local fire department and referred the matter of rats on the city dump to the city health department.

City Trustee Price was instructed to write to the board of trustees of the Sequoia Union High School relative to changing the foundations under the manual training building of the school, as suggested in plans submitted by the city engineer's department.

Reports of City Treasurer Towne showed a balance in the general city fund of $13,289.49 on July 1 and a balance in the water fund of $6,887.60. The regular monthly claims passed by the finance committee were ordered paid by the board.

WARRANT FOR ELOPERS

Henry Bichoff, 21, and his 16-year-old bride, formerly Miss Dorothy McKenzie, both of San Jose, are enjoying their honeymoon, blissfully unaware of the fact that the latter's stepfather, Albert Thielke of San Jose, has sworn out a warrant for the groom's arrest on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and is prepared to start annulment proceedings at once should their marriage be declared legal.

Although Thielke claims that an older couple accompanied the two to Redwood City, where the ceremony was performed, masqueraded as the girl's parents and gave their consent to the marriage, Max Mendensel, a friend of Bichoff, denies this, admitting, however, that he was present when the marriage took place. He declares that he was unaware of the girl's real age and believed her when she said she was 19 years old.

Following out the age-old custom of eloping couples, Bichoff and his bride waited until they were safely "tied" and out of reach and then notified her parents by wire that the marriage had taken place and they had started on their honeymoon. A petition is being filed to make young Mrs. Bichoff a ward of the juvenile court, should the separation be ordered.

EXAMINER TRANSFERRED

Naturalization Examiner George V. Crutchfield, who had been in charge of the San Francisco office since 1911, was notified Tuesday of his transfer to the St. Louis, Mo., office. Crutchfield, a former resident of St. Louis, requested the change, and had expected to leave here June 1. M. R. Bevington, a veteran of the St. Louis office, will succeed Mr. Crutchfield here.

COMMITS SUICIDE

The body of Arthur Hancock, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hancock of El Granada, was found hanging in a barn in the rear of his home Wednesday night by relatives who had been making a search for the missing lad. The boy committed suicide by hanging himself with a sheet, according to the findings of a coroner's jury. He had been dead about four hours when discovered, according to Dr. W. A. Brooke, coroner.

Relatives were unable to ascribe a motive for the deed. The father of the lad has been employed as a carpenter in Oakland, leaving the boy with his mother and older brother, Clifford. Mrs. Hancock, who visited neighbors Wednesday afternoon, was unable to locate the boy on her return. Following a search of the neighborhood by members of the family, the body was discovered by the mother.it was reported. The lad had been in good spirits and was enjoying the best of health, according to reports to Coroner Brooke, who removed the body to Halfmoon Bay, where an inquest was held Thursday.

WILL BUILD NEW SCHOOL

Complaint of Detour at Colma

A detour of a mile or more on the state highway six miles south of Colma is being complained of by peninsula motorists as well as many from San Francisco, who use the road for Sunday excursions along the famous scenic coast line of San Mateo county.

The trouble is in no sense chargeable to the San Mateo county supervisors, since the detour exists because of the construction of the first unit of the Skyline boulevard, which is to connect San Francisco with Santa Cruz county. The work is in charge of the state highway commission, which claims that no funds are available to maintain detours. The contractors building the new road are not required to furnish suitable detours for traffic, and it appears that the public will have to make the best of the situation for many months to come.

Aside from the detour mentioned, the road from San Francisco to Halfmoon Bay is reported in good shape for touring, despite the heavy hauling from the Halfmoon Bay district since the removal of the Ocean Shore railroad.

The highway system of San Mateo county is one almost entirely of county roads and the supervisors of the various districts are doing their utmost to protect the highways against the heavy traffic from the farming districts, which are without rail transportation.

There are many other stretches of road throughout the state such as the one being complained of near Colma, all sai dto be due to construction work under the jurisdiction of the state highway commission. The only remedy seems to be the passage of state legislation that will provide funds and make it compulsory on the part of the highway commisison to provide for the maintaining of detours during construction of all new roads.

Bond Issue at Mountain View

The question of issuing bonds for $197,000 for a site and new building for the Mountain View Union High School is being voted on.

The site tentatively selected for the proposed new building is a 20-acre tract on Castro street in the city limits.

It is said by the bond proponents that the tax for the bonds would be $2.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Two factions were lined up on the question, making it of unusual interest. The chief objection to the issue is that it may make the taxes too high, as the school cost in that district is already above the average.

BUCKING PROGRESS

Again progressive government is being attacked by the interests that do not want progressive government. The same forces that fought in 1910 and in 1914 to keep Hiram Johnson out of the gubernatorial chair, exerted themselves unsuccessfully again in 1916 to prevent him from going to the United States senate and sought in vain to have California repudiate him in the presidential primary election in 1920—those same forces are banded together again this year to oppose him and the ideals of popular government for which he stands.

It is the same old battle over again. There is nothing new in this assault on Johnson. That was made evident when the names of those who attended the memorable meeting at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco at which C. C. Moore was forced into the senatorial contest was made public. Foremost among those who put Moore forward as a candidate were the ancient enemies of Hiram Johnson and progressivism—Harry Chandler of the Los Angeles Times, James N. Gillett, who was ousted from the governor's office in 1910 by Johnson; Harry Haldeman of Los Angeles, representative of "big business" and the Better America Federation; W. W. Mines and others like them. And now come these men and through the medium of Moore's publicity organization ask progressive Republicans of California to support their candidate. They say Hiram Johnson is not a progressive Republican. They expect the voters of this state to forget that Theodore Roosevelt, greatest of all progressive leaders, said this of Hiram Johnson:

"Mr. Johnson embodies the cause of good government and clean business. He stands for efficiency, progress and for equal rights for all, for the welfare of the farmer and the wage worker no less than for the business man, and for scrupulously safeguarding the rights of the weak no less than the rights of the strong. To him is due not only the support of every upright Republican, but especially the support of every upright independent and of all men who put American citizenship and devotion to the principles of American government above partisanship. All farseeing men who believe in the perpetuity of American institutions throughout this union feel the keenest interest in the success of Mr. Johnson.

"His record is almost a statement of what we progressive want to apply in the nation at large."

Hiram Johnson has not changed a whit since Roosevelt said that of him. It is because he has not changed that the interests back of Moore fear him.

FOR RE-ELECTION

Such unusual public service has been rendered to the people of the state of California by Surveyor General W. S. Kingsbury during the 16 years he has held office that his recent announcement that he would seek re-election has met with wide approval.

One of the chief duties of the surveyor general is the sale of public lands belonging to the state. Inasmuch as nearly all the money from such sales goes for the support of the public schools, it is important that this office be administered so that the state shall get all the money possible for its lands.

When Surveyor General Kingsbury took office in January, 1907, public lands were being sold to land sharks for $1.25 an acre. The land sharks sold these lands for what they could get and pocketed the difference. They were firmly intrenched behind a system of legislation and administration and it took years of fighting in the legislature and in the courts to rout them, but it was finally done. Now public lands are sold by the state under the direction of Surveyor General Kingsbury at public auction to the highest bidder and the state of California gets for its schools the money the land sharks used to pocket. Instead of $1.25 an acre these lands have sometimes brought as much as $140 an acre. Hundreds of thousands of dollars has thus been made available for the schools of the state in this way. It is important to continue this system and to keep in office the man who is responsible for it.

FIGHT TO ABOLISH CHILD LABOR

Strong support of Senator Hiram W. Johnson in his fight for a constitutional amendment abolishing child labor in the United States will be forthcoming from the American Legion of California.

"The Legion News," the official state paper of the California legion, has this to say about Senator Johnson's efforts to bring a little more sunshine into the lives of the children of this nation who have the misfortune to be poor:

"Recently the United States Supreme Court declared the child labor bill unconstitutional. The American Legion has a comprehensive program of Americanism. After all, the school is the cradle of America, and the children of America are rightfully entitled to their heritage of a good education and a little time to play. We do not know the legal reasons for rejecting this worthy bill passed by Congress, but somebody has said something about state's rights. And we must presume that the decision is a just one and as good law-abiding citizens we are going to uphold that decision.

"But, as good, law-abiding citizens, if we believe in principle, we are entitled to the privilege of finding a way out. The senior Senator from California, Hon. Hiram Johnson, has proposed in the United States Senate that a constitutional amendment be submitted to the state's legislatures empowering Congress to regulate child labor.

"If this is the way out, let us back Senator Johnson's plan to the limit. Let us do something for the children of America. Let us do our duty to posterity. Let us do something real and worth while for Americanism.

"The child labor law and the minimum wage for women now are two important questions before us. Big business and the interests may howl. Well, they howled at the adjusted compensation bill, and tried to beat the exservice men out of what they justly are entitled to. But we will continue with our program of service—service to our country and service to our comrades.

"The child labor law and the minimum wage for women are two matters of serious interest to the legion, and might well be discussed under the head—'policies, not politics.'"

SOME IMPRESSIONS

Several years ago the people of San Mateo county passed a big bond issue to build good roads for the people of the county and for those who desired to travel through our vale of beauty. During the week we had occasion to travel from Colma to Salada Beach and the boulevard which was once a beauty and a joy has been turned into a nightmare by the heavy trucking which has rolled it and gouged it out. It is almost a corduroy road. As we have remarked at other times we believe that the trucks which are used for commercial purposes and compete with the railroad companies should be obliged to build and keep their roads in repair. The people of the county should not be obliged to do it for them.

The time for filing nomination papers is rapidly passing. At this writing most of the county officials have turned in their lists of names and have made affidavit that they will be candidates for re-election. There are very few contests. This is as it should be. The officials have all given satisfaction. They are efficient and have conducted their several positions well. A public official who is efficient and decent should be retained for the good of the service.

THE "OIL PROBE" INDUSTRY

Senator La Follette has an "oil probe" going.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels was the last man that we remember of who operated an "oil probe."

The "oil probe" is an expensive machine for the taxpayer. Secretary Daniels, by its continuous use and operation, used up many thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money and the net result of his activities was to prevent increased oil production with resulting higher prices and shortage of supplies for consumers.

The public is gradually coming to understand that the difference between "oil probing" and "oil drilling" is that in the first case the expense is borne by the taxpayers and the result is reduced oil supplies for the consumer; while in the second case, the expense is borne by the investor, the government gets a royalty return from oil found on public lands and the consumer has increased supplies.

Let us await the result of La Follette's "probe" and see who benefits it is doubtful if even La Follette will secure the advantage of public approval which he is seeking for these investigations have become a farce at public expense.

FRANK L. EKSWARD

Frank L. Eksward is again asking the people of San Mateo county to return him to the California legislature. In making this request Mr. Eksward points to his record as the reason for his return.

Mr. Eksward during the last session was honored by being appointed assistant floor leader by Governor Stephens and during the session it was his duty to take charge of all the measures which the administration wished to put through. In addition to that service he attended to the business of his constituents. He was one of the proponents of the plan for the reclamation of marsh lands of San Mateo county as an industrial center, now known as the Mason plan. He worked in the lower house for the skyline boulevard. He championed the cause of the teachers in California and sponsored the "teachers' tenure act." He defeated the residents of a neighboring county who would have taken a large and rich slice of the local high school district so that it might be added to a neighboring district.

Frank Eksward was on the job all the time. There are two very estimable young men opposing Mr. Eksward for the nomination, but we feel that with so many important things at stake it is wise to return a man who understands conditions and who has enough friends among the old members to take care of the interests of San Mateo county.

Public Economy Motto of Republican Administration

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE MARTIN B. MADDEN (ILLINOIS), CHAIRMAN HOUSE COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS

The estimates submitted by President Wilson for the conduct of the Government for the fiscal year 1921 amounted to $6,150,000,000, and the appropriations made under these estimates by a Republican Congress amounted to $4,789,000,000, showing an approximate saving in appropriations for that year of $1,400,000,000.

The estimates submitted by President Wilson for the fiscal year 1922 were $5,600,000,000, and the appropriations made under these estimates by a Republican Congress were reduced to $4,065,800,000, showing an approximate saving of $1,600,000,000.

The estimates for the fiscal year 1923 submitted by President Harding amount to $3,853,000,000, and the appropriations, when completed, will probably be $3,500,000,000, or $353,000,000 less than the estimates.

The people of the United States should understand that for many years to come it will not be possible to run the Government for less than $3,500,000,000 per annum. This seems like a very large sum, but when it is realized that we have three fixed charges, consisting of interest on the public debt, sinking fund, and maintenance of the Veterans Bureau, which were created by the war and amount to approximately $2,000,000,000 per annum, it will be seen that the other expenses of the Government have been reduced by the Republican administration to $1,500,000,000.

The annual cost of the Government before the war was $1,250,000,000. Thus it will be seen that the present cost, aside from the fixed charges referred to, is but $250,000,000 in excess of pre-war cost, and at least $150,000,000 of this is accounted for by the normal increase in the business of the postal service, leaving but $100,000,000 of expense for ordinary purposes in excess of pre-war costs.

Any one who has followed the conduct of the Government since Mr. Harding's induction into the presidency must marvel at the rapidity with which the cost of government has been reduced. It is the constant aim of the administrative and legislative branches of the government, all in control of the Republican Party, to administer the affairs of the Government on a strictly business basis, expending not a single dollar for any purpose not essential to the Nation's needs. The one thing on which all are agreed is rigid economy in Government expenditure, and nothing can more forcibly portray the story of accomplishment achieved in this direction than the statement that costs have been reduced to the extent above indicated.

One billion, five hundred and seventeen million have been expended on the care of the wounded and sick soldiers of the World War up to February 1st, last, indicating that nothing has been left undone to provide for the care and comfort of the men who gave themselves to the country in its hour of need.

The country is to be congratulated on having Mr. Harding in the presidency. The problems handed down to him from the war complicated though they are, have been solved in the interest of the people. He has had the vision to see, the patriotism to do, and the courage and ability to achieve. His devotion to the Nation's needs has been the admiration of all who have watched him. He has been zealous, painstaking, patriotic, untiring and unselfish, and he has had and will have the hearty co-operation of the Congress in his efforts to put the country on a stable basis. Nineteen hundred and twenty-three will find America the only country in the world living within its income. The people have reason to rejoice at this accomplishment of their President and their Congress.

P. P. CHAMBERLAIN

The oldest public official in San Mateo county both in point of years and service is P. P. Chamberlain. There has never been a more faithful, more efficient public servant than Mr. Chamberlain. As a youth he served his country in the great civil war. He then came to California and cast his lot in Redwood City. For many years he held a public office and conducted a general merchandise business, and during those years no deserving family was ever denied credit. His charity was unbounded and he was always willing to do just a little bit more than his share.

For more than 40 years Mr. Chamberlain has been treasurer of San Mateo county. He is now asking the people of the county to return him to office. It is to be regretted that he has an opponent. His re-election is an assured fact, but he should have the pleasure of going back unopposed.

DANCE AT PALO ALTO

Golden Poppy Chapter, No. 2, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, will give another big dance at De Luxe Hall Wednesday, July 19. This is the third dance the boys have held and the last was very pleasing to the public. This one promises to be even better. Snappy music is promised for the occasion and the boys deserve liberal support.

The Filipino-Hawaiian orchestra that has been engaged for the occasion is led by a former performer on the Orpheum circuit. They assure the best possible in music.

Senator LaFollette in his attack upon the United States Supreme Court, has already demanded that where court decisions are adverse to passing popular fancy that the will of the people be allowed to override the decision of the judges.

Duck Hunting Reminiscences

By CLAUDE FOX

Scull boat hunting now held me firmly in its grasp and I very much doubt whether the stubble fields and puddling ponds, former haunts of the wild birds of the marshlands, could have lured me away again had night shooting returned with all its pleasant memories. There was, however, one thing I did miss in my newly adopted style of hunting and that was companionship, which was never lacking in the beautiful moonlight shoots which had made this peninsula a duck hunter's paradise.

Jon Cook had impressed upon me the fact that scull boat shooting, to be accomplished successfully, must be done absolutely noiselessly and it required but a brief experience to substantiate the wisdom of his invaluable advice. On one or two occasions in my early career with the little grassed boat had I ventured out with a boy companion, but the results of those hunts were far from satisfactory and I soon found that I must go it alone, paddle my own canoe—or rather, scull my own boat—with my thoughts and best judgment as my only solace for the companionship for which I longed. Two boys, or men, for that matter, can no more refrain from talking while hunting together than can two women just after the gorgeous array of bonnets and feminine apparel following Easter Sunday.

The human voice is far more penetrating in the water than any other sound and a flock of the wild birds resting or feeding in the creeks will be off and away for other parts much quicker upon hearing even a subdued conversation than they will from the noise produced by an exploding shotgun.

So, after a couple of vain efforts with a companion in my duck boat, I followed Cook's admonition to "do just as I tell you and you will come out all right," and thereafter the greater part of my scull boat hunting was done alone, although on one occasion of which I shall later write a wonderful shoot at bluebill was made on the bay shore north of Redwood creek in the enclosed beds of the Morgan Oyster Company.

When sculling alone success nearly always crowned my efforts in of course a more or less degree. Sometimes I would unknowingly go over the same ground sculled by one of the market hunters earlier in the day, when I would find the birds scattered and wild, but it was not long before from 20 to 30 ducks of different species was a common bag. All my hunting was confined at that time to the creeks, either in the north or south marsh. Father had cautioned me not to venture out into the bay, and in fact bay sculling was then practically unheard of, and the occasional drowning of some venturesome duck hunter in the rough outside waters led me to believe that to go beyond the shelter of the creeks was destined to bring about certain fatality, but as time went on that feeling of insecurity was gradually overcome and the sight of the large flocks lying a few hundred yards off shore was a lure and temptation which could not be resisted. Today I think no more of crossing the bay to Alvarado and hunting the Alameda county shore, in a small, open duck boat than I would of hunting the creeks which at that time was child's play, so far as danger was concerned, but in the years that have since passed weather conditions have been to me a study, and I have yet to be caught in the gales which occasionally arise suddenly and churn the usually placid waters into a seething mass of foam. This assertion is not, however, made in any spirit of braggadocio, for my time may yet come as it did to Messrs. Hanify, Christensen and Anderson, but a few weeks ago, one Saturday night, when Henry Bullivant and myself crossed over to Alvarado in the launch Oakwood, in one of the most tempestuous gales I have ever known at this season of the year.

My first experience in sculling the bay was made in company with Walter R. Welch, one of the duck hunting boys of yesterday. Walter had hunted for the market, was a careful boatman and possessed a thorough knowledge of the creeks and the marshes. We had been out sculling together in the lower creeks to the southward and about 1:30 arrived at the mouth of West Point creek which enters the bay about three miles south of Redwood slough. We had between 15 and 20 ducks under the bow and the day was yet young. It was a beautiful day, possibly a little sultry, and the waters of the bay were as calm as a millpond. It was just high water and up along the shore toward the patch of weeds we could hear the teal and widgeon by the thousands cackling away in their webfoot language. The spirit of adventure seized us, or at least it did Walter, but not particularly me. To scull back through the creeks over the route we had just come meant a lot of hard work with no results, as the birds had all been driven outside.

My companion suggested that we go up the bay to Redwood creek on our way home.

"Do you think we can make it?" I asked.

"Sure," Walter replied. "I have sculled it lots of times."

"Look! Look!" he continued, as a black cloud of thousands of ducks arose from the water and settled again near the edge of the tulles.

That settled it; that swarm of ducks was irresistible; Dad's admonition for me not to venture outside was for the time being forgotten and I must confess that my own inclination was not to go until that great bunch of webfoots suddenly changed my mind I had every confidence in Walter's ability to properly handle the boat, wind or no wind, and when he told me that we would follow close along the shore there was no further objection on my part and we started northward As a matter of fact the sight of that immense flock had lulled me into fancied security.

An hour later my father's advice came back to me with a suddenness that brought me to a full realization of where we were and I heartily wished that we were back in the creeks if not another duck was to be had.

Walter was sculling and I was lying down in the forward part of the boat with the muzzle of my gun over the washrail. We went along slowly, keeping close to the bank. The sky had become somewhat overcast; the atmosphere was rather close, the kind of a day we speak of as earthquake weather and of which we do not care to think since 1906.

The ducks ahead of us seemed to be uneasy and kept jumping out of the water and flying further northward. We both thought they were aware of the presence of the moving boat, but shortly afterward we realized the real cause which disturbed them. A wild duck is a fine weather prophet. Just study them and you will agree that I am right. As we approached what was known as the outside gutter, which ran through the patch of weeds, the webfoots were lying there in countless thousands, acres of them. We were still 200 yards away from the nearest. Walter whispered to me and said he was going to try and scull a flock of mallard swimming off to one side of the main flock.

Some heavier and darker clouds had appeared overhead, but there was not a breath of wind. The bay remained as calm as before.

Then something happened, something to which Californians are, or rather were at that time, little accustomed. A blinding flash of lightning crossed the heavens, followed by a clap of thunder short and sharp that seemed to fairly make our little boat tremble. Every duck for a mile around rose startled from the water and started inshore for the marshes. It was the signal for us to get busy also, so passing around the point of weeds we headed for the shelter of Redwood creek with myself at the oars and Walter sculling. Then came a few puffs of wind and just a gentle ripple of the water, the forerunner of what was to come later, but before the storm broke we were safely inside and busied ourselves covering up our things in the boat to protect them from the big drops of rain that came pouring down.

There was no more duck shooting for us that day. We were both thankful that we had not been caught outside in the rising wind. Some of the old timers undoubtedly will remember that day also, especially when I tell them that P. B. Jamieson, father of Will and Harry Jamieson of this city, was engaged in running a water main out on the Moses Hopkins place, now the new high school site, and was struck and injured by a bolt of lightning that brought Walter Welch and myself to our senses on the occasion of my first experience in sculling ducks on the waters of San Francisco Bay.

NEW ARRIVALS

Redwood City's ever increasing population was augmented on July 1, by the arrival in our midst of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Borne who are domiciled in an apartment at the home of Mrs. Claude Fox, at 642 El Camino Real.

Mr. and Mrs. Borne hail from Minneapolis, Minnesota, and while both cherish fond recollections of their home town, they are more than enthusiastic over the wonderful climate of the peninsula. Mr. Borne is connected with the Williams Bros.'s Aircraft Corporation of San Francisco and may be seen nearly every day flying over our city. He saw service in France during the great world war, being connected with the observation department attached to the light artillery, and won merited distinction for his services to our government in the battle of St. Mihell.

For the past nine monts, Mr. and Mrs. Borne have resided at Belmont. Mrs. Borne is a refined, intelligent little woman, deeply interested in her husband's occupation and proud of his career in the great war. Both will not only be a credit socially to the vicinity, but at the same time, zealous boosters for Redwood City, its climate and the ideal surroundings of which we all feel to proud.

What every successful business man knows is that it is easier to build an organization than to hold it. To do the former requires some technical knowledge and executive ability, but the whole works may be destroyed in a day afterward by lack of tact.

"RED CROWN" used exclusively in ANNUAL ECONOMY RUNS

The Los Angeles-Yosemite (Camp Curry) Economy Run is probably the most famous event of its kind in the motor world. Every year about the middle of May, while the snow still lies deep in the mountain passes, from 15 to 20 cars start the strenuous 360-mile run across the interior valleys and up the difficult mountain roads into the Yosemite Valley. Every car is carefully groomed for victory, and driven by an expert.

And in all the six runs so far held, all cars entered have used Red Crown gasoline exclusively.

This year the car making the run on the lowest consumption of fuel, a *Chevrolet driven by Dominick Basso, made the entire trip of 360 miles on 12 gallons of "Red Crown" (an average of 30 miles to the gallon), and a pint of Zerolene.

The average gasoline consumption for all cars participating was phenomenally low, This furnishes striking evidence of the continued success of this company in manufacturing a motor-car fuel of the highest grade, justifying for six successive years the unanimous choice of automotive engineers eager to establish the best possible records for their cars. This year, 18 of the 20 cars entered made the entire distance on less than 20 gallons of "Red Crown," although owing to recent rains the roads were unusually difficult.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

Red Crown gasoline is the most economical motor fuel on the market today, because it contains the maximum number of heat units that can be rapidly and uniformly vaporized in the modern carburetor and go into complete combustion in the cylinders, producing the maximum power the engine was designed to develop.

MENLO PARK NEWS

Little Myra Mae Kurtz, the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz, celebrated the eighth anniversary of her birth by giving a party to her little girl friends at the home of her parents on Santa Cruz avenue extended last Monday. Games dear to the hearts of youngsters were played and delightful refreshments were served. Little Myra demonstrated her cleverness as a hostess in the manner she received her guests.

The attractive show windows of the Menlo Pharmacy this week are the talk of the town. The display of fancy articles would do credit to places of much larger population.

The anniversary sale of choice shoes at the Menlo shoe store begins on Monday and will continue for a week. Every shoe in the large store has been marked down to bedrock prices. Those desiring footwear at about half they can be purchased at other places should take advantage of this rare opportunity.

John O'Farrell was rushed to the Palo Alto Hospital on Wednesday suffering from a severe attack of stomach ailment. His case is quite serious, alarming his family to a great extent. The members of his family are at his bedside.

John Doyle and family have taken a house at Seabright for the month of July. Mr. Doyle will make week end trips to the seashore.

Mrs. Frank Derry is spending her summer vacation at La Honda with friends.

J. G. Mason and his two daughters are preparing to occupy their cottage at Seabright. They will depart next week to remain two months by the seashore.

Mr. Renbrook, who some time ago bought the E. Black Ryan home, is erecting a neat bungalow upon the property at a cost of $7,500.

Those desiring to vote for Judge Shurtleff, candidate for associate justice of the supreme court, and for Frank P. Roach for sheriff and Martin Walsh for constable would do well to register before July 29, for that is the last day on which to register and vote at the primary election on August 29. There are a great many voters in Menlo Park who have not yet registered. W. J. Murray and James G. Mason are registering for this place. They will come to your homes if notified.

The food sale and lunch for the benefit of the Presbyterian church last Saturday netted $150. Mrs. John MacBain was head of the committee in charge and much of the success of the affair was due to her efforts.

The Menlo Park Country Club was the center of Fourth of July festivities for the holidays, but Menlo Park and Atherton homes had guests. The no-host luncheon at the club was followed by a golf tournament in the afternoon. A dinner dance interspersed by fireworks occupied the evening. Among the homes where sports and fireworks had been arranged for the entertainment of the house guests and invited friends were those of James Flood, J. A. Donohoe, Charles McCormick, J. A. Levensaler and Charles Merrill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton La Montague, who occupied the Macondray home at Atherton last summer, have purchased a part of the old Atherton property and plan to build this summer. The site of their new residence is oak studded and is one of the most attractive on the peninsula.

The property belonging to the P. Lenehan heirs on the highway adjoining the gramma rschool was sold this week to Luigi Boetto, the local barber. He is shortly to establish an Italian dry goods store on the realty. A big price was paid for the land.

George W. Phelps, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Phelps, residing on Oak Grove avenue, on crossing the highway near the Triumph Cafe was run down by an automobile on Wednesday. The car passed over his body, but fortunately the lad escaped without serious injury, only suffering bruises. No bones were broken. The youngster was taken to the Mills Memorial Hospital at San Mateo for treatment. Mr. Phelps recently purchased the cottage rented for many years by Mrs. Charles Coxin.

The attractive home of J. E. Mulcahy in the Menlo foothills has been leased for the remainder of the year for $750 a month to Mr. Speaker, a multi-millionaire of New York. Mr. Speaker has an option to purchase the property for $275,000.

OUTING AT PACIFIC CITY

The 100 per cent club of San Francisco will hold its annual summer outing at Pacific City, the new amusement park down the peninsula, Sunday. An automobile caravan of members with their wives and children will leave the Underwood building on Market street at 1 p. m. and drive direct to the beach, where there will be a program of games, races, aquatic sports and general park amusements. Other features of the day will be a water polo game between the married and single men of the organization.

The 100 per cent clubs of Oakland and San Jose have been invited to meet with the San Francisco chapter at Pacific City and a series of contests is being arranged among the three branches of the organization. The committee in charge consists of Milo Pestolesi, Clyde Ginn Alden Glaze, Nat Messer and D. R. Pinny.

ENDORSES EKSWARD

You may increase your engine power 20%

Too heavy an oil, or one lacking in certain qualities, may reduce the power delivered to the wheels of the automobile as much as 20%.

The ideal oil is the thinnest oil which will keep the bearing surfaces of the mechanism separated.

Providing this oil has "oiliness," stability and purity, it will give perfect lubrication, and permit the development of the maximum power, speed and gasoline mileage of the car.

"Oiliness" — Stability — Purity

Zerolene meets the conditions perfectly. It has great "oiliness," due to the crudes from which it is made, and our own patented process of high vacuum distillation.

It has great stability, as a result of which it resists engine heat and forms only a minimum of carbon of a soft, flaky nature which blows out with the exhaust.

And it is pure. This company has always considered the removal of all detrimental properties and compounds as essential in making Zerolene.

Zerolene of the correct grade gives perfect lubrication and permits the development of the maximum power, speed and gasoline mileage of the car.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC-CENTRAL PACIFIC.

On account of the far-reaching consequences that will inevitably follow the separation of the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific railway system, as per the recent decision of the supreme court, this is undoubtedly the most important question that is confronting the people of California at this time or that is likely to come before us for some time to come. In our estimation the citizens and voters of California will make a big mistake if they permit any becloud this present vital issue and becloud this present vital one and prevent them giving it the thoughtful and careful consideration which it deserves and demands. For this reason the local and rural press in every nook and corner of the state should keep this urgent and important matter constantly before the people from now until the time set for the rehearing of the case, and until the matter has been passed upon by the Interstate Commerce Commission. No one should permit themselves to be impulsively stampeded into the support of or their opposition to either side of this great issue, as was attempted by Phil R. Thompson, chairman of the transportation committee of the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and Civic Associations at the auditorium at Redwood City last Friday night when he undertook and partially succeeded in railroading his resolution in favor of the unscrambling of the two railroad systems, so called, by the respective representatives of the several chambers of commerce of the peninsula. This extremely untactful move upon the part of Phil R. Thompson was an insult to every intelligent representative of the various local organizations down the peninsula. It was as embarrassing as it was distressing to each one of them. Protests were made against any such tactics but they were not sufficiently strong to prevent Thompson from getting a report into the press leaving the impression that his resolution was supported and backed up by every local chamber of commerce on the peninsula, from South San Francisco to Palo Alto, when in fact, there are many civic organizations as well as chambers of commerce which are not members of the peninsula bureau. And, furthermore, and which is still more important, there was not a representative present who was authorized or who had the right to commit his local organization for or against any proposition. And this sort of procedure is prevented by the constitution and by-laws of the peninsula bureau, which Mr. Thompson so well misrepresents. It is also well to recall that when Mr. Smith (with the three initials), secretary of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce and also holding the same position with the peninsula bureau, sent out his invitations for the people to attend the debate at Redwood City, that he explicitly requested that no action be taken by any local chamber until after the Redwood meeting. I have merely called attention to this fiasco of Mr. Thompson's at Redwood City that the people may be informed as to the tactics employed by those with personal, local or political motives who are urging the separation of this great railroad system to the great detriment of the whole state of California. To use an apt simile, to any one of the old-timers who have watched the growth and natural welding of this great system of railroads in California, Nevada and Utah, they have each grown up just like Topsie, and have grown together like the Siamese twins, and likewise if they are put asunder it will prove the death blow to the efficient usefulness of either of them and to the great transportation system of California. Anyone who has so much as given this matter a superficial and cursory study can very readily understand that the supreme court decision rests upon highly technical grounds. There could not possibly have been any monopolistic or choking of competitive motives or ideas in the minds of those early pioneers who had to do with the joint construction of the Southern Pacific and the Central Pacific systems which have grown up and grown together as naturally as do the autumn leaves fall since that first historic spike was driven way back in 1861. With one part of a great system extending only a few hundred miles toward the east and terminating at Ogden, Utah, and the other part taking a circuitous route toward the south and ending up at gulf ports such as New Orleans and Galveston, two thousand miles on the south east, it would seem that we would have to stretch out economical hypothesis to the straining and breaking point in order to show that the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific, as they have so naturally grown up and grown together as a western institution were a monopoly in restraint of trade. But it should be no difficulty for a high school sophomore to survey the present holdings of the Union Pacific, extending from Omaha, through Ogden to Portland on the north and through Ogden and Salt Lake to Los Angeles on the south and then turn over to them the Central Pacific from Ogden to San Francisco, and then decide whether we had a railroad monopoly controlled from Omaha to hogtie and control this western country from a Nebraska headquarters. We could go on indefinitely, but our space will not permit. An editorial in the San Francisco Bulletin of Saturday, July 8, puts the proposition more logically and succiently than anything we have read or listened to in the matter and I would urge upon everyone to read this editorial before they make up their minds. No political interest should have any bearing upon this all-imporiant matter. But we should decide as between a monopoly operated and directed from Ohama and that of an institution which has grown up with and has been managed by California citizens and from California headquarters, and which has distributed millions of dollars throughout California in the matter of wages, taxes and improvements.

AGENTS ON EXCURSION

Forthy-three visiting railroad advertising agents and their wives, representing twenty of the principal railroads of the United States, will be the guests of from July 18 to July 28 of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and other interests on an excursion to the wonder spots found in the northern part of the state. The opportunity of entertaining men who are directly responsible for the travel and traffic directed to the Pacific coast will be developed to its fullest extent.

The excursion party is scheduled to leave from Truckee on the morning of July 18 to begin the tour. Upon arrival at Ogden they will be met by Robert Newton Lynch, vice president and general manager of the Southern Pacific company, and Charles S. Fee, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Company, who will serve as official hosts throughout the trip.

From Truckee the party will visit Lake Tahoe and travel 250 miles through the high Sierras over the line of the Yosemite Transportation system leading to Minden, Nevada.

After visiting Como Lake, Lake Tahoe, Big Trees, Yosemite Lodge, Tuolumne Meadows Lodge, and the Glacier Point Mountain House, the excursionists will return by way of El Portal and Merced to San Francisco where they will be the guests of the Palace hotel, Hotel St. Francis and the Fairmont hotel. A special luncheon will be held in the gold room of the Palace hotel on July 26, to which members of the chamber of Commerce, Downtown Association, the Advertising Club, the Commonwealth club, the Northern California Hotel Association, the California State Automobile Association and the California Development Association have been invited.

FOUND DEAD

Daniel Connelly and Desmond Gerrity of Mayfield were arrested Sunday pending an investigation into the death of Mrs. Elsie Baird, also known as Mrs. Elsie Turley, 29 years old, who was found dead in a shack occupied by the two men at Mayfield.

The two men arrested say the woman came to their shack late Saturday afternoon from San Francisco and remained there that night. They admit that she drank liquor, which they offered her.

The sheriff's office investigated the case and said that the woman was a narcotic addict and that her death had been due to an overdose of some narcotic.

PREPARE FOR HUNTING

Although the open season for shooting wild ducks is over two months away the boys, dads and grandfathers who follow that delightful pastime are already making arrangements to give the feathered beauties a warm reception on their arrival, October 1.

Early last week George Genochio and Claude Fox towed over to Alvarado a barge load of material for the construction of a new duck hunting cabin and on Sunday a force of carpenters, under the able direction of Louis Genochio, put up the building, all ready for occupancy. Billy Williamson, one of the old time duck hunters handled a carpenter's hammer with dexterity, ably assisted by Henry Bullivant, Arthur Tague, Jack Boyd and others. George Genochio ably acted as chef and a dinner was served at two o'clock that a king could sit down to without regrets. About twenty were present at the banquet, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Ross Coward, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Genochio, Miss Nell Humberg and friends from San Jose and Oakland.

APPOINTED CHAIRMAN

The Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and Civic Associations has appointed P. R. Thompson of San Francisco, chairman of their transportation committee, to appear before each organization to advocate the separation or the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific in accordance with the supreme court decision recently given to unmerge the two roads.

Firestone

GUM-DIPPED CORDS
-and Their High Mileage Records

The high mileage records of Firestone Cords continue to emphasize the fact that Firestone methods are different and better. These records, steadily increasing in number and in mileage totals, justify the Firestone contention that there is one best way to build tires.

Among the primary sources of Firestone extra mileage is double gum-dipping—the saturation of the cord plies in a vat of liquid gum—thus coating each cord and virtually eliminating internal heat and friction.

Another is Firestone air bag curing, with its 200 pound pressure, which places every cord accurately and equalizes the tension.

By blending the rubbers of different plantations and types, and by tempering it before mixing, Firestone men add still more mileage.

Many cord tires are good—a few are better—Firestone users say one is best.

Those who have already experienced Firestone mileage, have stopped shopping and experimenting—they have made these cords standard equipment. Investigate your friends' success with Firestone Cords—and buy your next tire accordingly. Come in and get your share of extra mileage.

SAN CARLOS NOTES

In company with her mother, Mrs. E. Steger from Santa Rosa, Mrs. E. W. Mallory has gone to Capitola for a fortnight's outing.

Rev. William A. Philips of St. John's Presbyterian church, in San Francisco, and his estimable wife, were guests of L. E and Miss Carrie M Coulter at the C. C. Morse trial gardens, "Laurellone." Mr. Philips is a cousin of the Coulters.

The young Miss Grace Byers is down from San Francisco and is visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Mahany.

Miss Nellie Hindman, a trained nurse from Oakland, and her sister, Miss Mae, who is also a nurse at the Peninsula Hospital of Palo Alto, were here for the week end at the home of their mother, Mrs. L. A. Hindman.

The Misses Thelma Odgers and Lou Smith of San Francisco, who are summering in their rustic home in the Oak Knoll district of Redwood City, were visitors at the home of their cousin, Miss Ellen Odgers, last Sunday.

The young Misses Margaret and Mary Barry from Oakland are enjoying part of their school vacation visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Scott on Cypress avenue.

William S. Heller, who as court reporter in the court house at Omaha, Neb., was on a hurried business trip to southern California in connection with his court work, came this way on his return trip to the corn country to stop over for a few hours' visit with Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Sizer, old friends of Mr. Heller, who were residents of Omaha for many years before they caught the California fever and came to the Golden State to escape the cyclones and tornadoes of William Jennings Bryan's part of the country. The Hellers and the Sizers were for many years associated in church as members of the Wheeler Memorial Presbyterian church at Omaha. The history of the Wheeler Memorial church of Omaha is unique in that it was founded some 35 years ago by its present pastor, whose name it bears. Dr. Wheeler started with a small mission in that section of the great middle west many years ago and by religious faithfulness to duty and as a true shepherd of his flock and by the aid of one of those estimable women who are the natural companions to a true disciple of the lowly Nazarene, he has built up a congregation which numbers more than 600 in membership and a following of admirers and attendants which would be hard to estimate. The present building is one of the most imposing edifices of that part of the country and it has grown to be one of the great institutions of the middle west. If in religious or church parlance it were ethical to use the expression, we might say that the Wheeler Memorial church has come to be one of the enviable institions of its kind in this country. As evidence of the friendly and hospitable spirit of this great pastor and the members of his congregation one of the conspicuous inscriptions upon that fine monument of stone dedicated to religious service reads: "You are never a stranger here but once." In the 35 years that Dr. Wheeler has so faithfully and tactfully tended his flock his congregation has outgrown a number of smaller buildings until the splendid stone edifice stands as a monument to him and his devoted wife's untiring efforts in the upbuilding of a great cause. In the Biblical or classical expression, "They have builded better than they knew." It was not until Mr. Heller's visit here that we learned of the very appropriate present which Mr. and Mrs. Sizer had made to their mother church at its 32d anniversary and just previous to their leaving for California. It was a large picture of the founder and pastor and his devoted helpmeet, which adorns the walls of the main auditorium of this splendid religious building. While the Sizers have retired from business in the middle west metropolis and have cast their lot with the Golden Gaters their numerous friends from old Nebraska who come this way won't let them forget.

This Thursday afternoon we were particularly honored by a visit from James E. Van Court, the veteran Knights of Pythias of the time of the hey-day of this grand organization in Redwood City, the eighty-one year old friend of the school kids of Redwood and Belmont of that early day which we have heard so much about. After this grand old veteran of fraternalism and the natural friend of our school children had told his story we locked up shop, the post office and the railroad station, harnessed up old betsy, the Overland, said good by to politics and had the great honor and pleasure of driving him to his home on Phelps street, Redwood City. Harding and Stephens would have been very small potatoes as our guests this afternoon after a handshake with James E. Van Court. It is to be regretted that our human frailities prevent us copying the unselfish life of Jimmie Van Court.

FAREWELL SERMON

Rev. A. H. Tyrer preached his farewell sermon at St. Peter's Episcopal church last Sunday morning and will leave today with Mrs. Tyrer and their son for his old home near Ontario, Canada. Mr. Tyrer has been in Redwood City for only six months but during that time has built up the membership of St. Peter's and has made many friends who regret his departure from the local ministry.

In his farewell remarks he thanked those who have stood by him so loyally and asked that they continue their good work with his successor. He told of the many times of old he had watched the sun sink in the glowing west and had wondered what lay beyond the far off mountains and purple plains, and when he is back again in his old home he will again turn his face to the sunset land and know that beyond the mountains and plains are friends and loved ones he has met and known and ministered to.

He next spoke of the failure of the church in the matter of attendance and said that only when the public school took up the matter of teaching things that built for the higher life beyond would the church reach the plane it should occupy.

He then wished that all his hearers might win true success and gave as his definition of the successful man, "one who has added something to the pleasure of others and who through great goodness and much suffering has come to the point where he can say: 'Not my will but Thine be done.'" His farewell brought tears to the eyes of many of his hearers and he closed his ministry with the knowledge that he had won the love of the parishioners of St. Peter's Episcopal church.

MINOR MUSINGS

One reason who so many men brag about the cars they own is because it hurts a man's vanity to permit anybody to know he could get "stung."

LIQUOR THEFT

Francis H. Tunnison, chauffeur, was trapped by Police Chief C. M. Hirschey of Hillsborough, when the officer went to investigate reports that liquor was being sold among servants of the millionaire colony. A confession involving the theft of several hundred dollars' worth of liquor from the Hillsborough home of Frederick W. McNear was obtained from Tunnison by Hirschey, according to police reports. Tunnison, who is employed by F. L. Hutton, wealthy San Francisco broker and lessee of the McNear home, was apprehended by Chief Hirschey last Tuesday and lodged in the county jail here on a charge of burglary.

The liquor is said to have been stolen in small quantities over a period of several months. Tunnison confessed to entering the vault by means of pass keys, the police said. Shortly before the arrest was made Chief Hirschey watched Tunnison transfer several bottles of liquor to an automobile from a hiding place on the grounds of the home.

Hutton is traveling in Hawaii and McNear is at present in Egypt, according to reports of relatives.

Liquor belonging to McNear was the center of a sensational burglary of his Menlo Park home on March 1, when the household of Julien Hart, San Francisco silk broker and lessee of the McNear mansion, was held a prisoner by armed men for more than 11 hours.

The greatest danger to American institutions lies in apathy of conservative voters who, by failing to vote, allow a small minority to inflict its will on the majority of the people.

PLANS FOR TUBERCULAR WARD PRESENTED

Plans and specifications for a special tuberculosis ward to be located on the grounds of the new county hospital at Beresford were presented the board of supervisors Mouday by Architect W. H. Toepke along with specifications for hardware, linoleum, sterilizers, an automatic elevator and other equipment to complete the main structure of the new hospital.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Nash, clerk of the board, was instructed to advertise for bids on construction of the tubercular ward, which will be put in a separate building. Advertisements for bids on equipment for the main building were also ordered by the supervisors. The bids will be opened August 7.

The problem of sewer equipment for the hospital will be made the subject of a special meeting of the board on Monday, July 24.

Installation of electric wires and gas pipes from the company's lines to the hospital will be made without charge by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, according to a communication received by the board.

The passage of the usual monthly claims, including salaries, social service work, construction of the Santa Cruz to Pescadero road and others occupied much of the attention of the board. Claims submitted by the H. C. Reid Company of San Francisco and Justice Grant B. Morris of Burlingame were referred to the district attorney. The Reid claim is for a balance of $403.66, said to be due from the county for installation of electroliers in Redwood City. A claim of $8 submitted by Judge Morris was labeled as the cost of a suit against County Auditor J. J. Shields, brought recently by the judge to force payment of salary and expenses, which had been held up by the auditor. The board decided to proceed cautiously with these two until duly advised by the district attorney.

The resignation of Miss Helen Anderson as nurse at the Emergency hospital maintained at Redwood City in connection with the county social service commission, was accepted by the board. Action on the application of Mrs. Emma M. Cozzens of Redwood City to succeed Miss Anderson was continued until next Monday.

The board adjourned following the filing of the auditor's estimate for July and the transfer of $846.84 from the general fund to the account of the county farm and hospital, on recommendation of County Auditor Shields.

The meeting was unanimous and the resolution passed by the bureau was ratified in its entirety and without any change whatever.

WILL PROBATED

The will of the late Mrs. Hattie Sanger Pullman, disposing of holdings at Belmont, along with an estate estimated at more than $50,000,000, was admitted to probate in the superior court here on Wednesday with the appointment of Francis J. Carolan of Burlingame as executor to serve in California.

The estate in San Mateo county consists of a bungalow and several acres of land at Belmont valued at approximately $6,000. Local persons named in the will include Mrs. Louise and Sarah Pullman, daughters-in-law of the late Mrs. Pullman, and Mrs. Francis Carolan, a daughter.

The will of the late Mrs. Pullman, who was the widow of the founder of the Pullman millions, provides that the income from the residue of the estate, after several bequests have been withdrawn, shall be equally divided between Mrs. Carolan and another daughter, Mrs. Frank O. Lowden, wife of the former governor of Illinois.

Mrs. Sarah Pullman and Mrs. Louise Pullman are each bequeathed $10,000. The order admitting the will to probate was signed by Superior Judge John C. Hudner of Santa Cruz.

The Broom Handle Turns off the Gas!

ON THE PIPE leading to your gas range is a valve, or stop-cock, which cuts the gas off from the range so that burners may be removed, cleaned and adjusted. Sometimes in sweeping, the broom handle will strike the valve and cut off the gas. Watch to keep this valve open. If then the gas doesn't flow, call the Gas Man.
